Frisco ...

As you have probably heard by now, gold will have been discovered for a hundred years in California tomorrow. Great day for all of us, especially those of us who are Native Californians! There will be a lot of celebrations in the old diggings and ghost towns in the Sierra foothills and the easterners will come in greater numbers than ever, admire our beautiful state and try to find a place to live here. By easterners, a Native Californian means anybody who wasn't born in California and who calls San Francisco, Frisco.

I can remember when I was about six years old I heard somebody speak of San Francisco as Frisco. It sounded very chic to me and so the next opportunity I had to refer to San Francisco, I said Frisco. Unfortunately it was in the hearing of my mother, a Native Californian, as is my father and as was his father. Mother said, "Wilma, shush! Never say that word. People will think you are an easterner!"

So yesterday, when I was grieving over the linoleum cut you see in the two adjacent columns, asking Cliff if he could cut out the Frisco with the power router, Mike Balazs, who was making a call in the print shop, asked, "What's the matter with Frisco?" and I said, "Oh, Mike, where were you BORN?" and Mike said, "Canada, and what's the matter with that?" and I said, "Nothing in the world is the matter with that. I can't wait until my two weeks' vacation every year to drive a thousand miles or so to Canada to gawk at the Canadian Rockies, which I dream about off and on throughout the other fifty weeks of the year until I can go back again." Nevertheless, I pointed out, his being born in Canada explains his attitude about the Frisco crisis in an otherwise delightful linoleum block.

Mike had another look at the linoleum block and said, "This cut represents the Gold Rush, and Frisco is not at all out of line with the Gold Rush." And I said, "No Native Californian would say Frisco, only easterners." And Mike said, "Well, for goodness sake, who were the 49ers but easterners!"

I hope Mike doesn't bandy this thought around carelessly, because it might catch on with the visiting easterners, and we don't want any confusion in anybody's mind as to whose Gold Rush this is.

"TELL THE WIFE"

A broadcast of world-wide news at breakfast time yesterday was interrupted by an amateur sender calling for Harry of Big Sur from what he called station WOZR KOH. He informed Harry that there was a strong nor'wester but it wasn't bad, a little like 3.8, and that he had sailed past Point Sur at 7:37. The important part of the message, however, came by way of instructions to Harry to call up the little wife and tell her the mariner would be home some time Friday.

Wardens On Trail Of Doe-Killing Dog

Officials of the California Fish and Game office in Monterey are investigating the report that a doberman pinscher has been seen running does in the lower Carmel Valley on a number of occasions during the past month. Shortly after he was seen chasing a doe this week, a dead doe, apparently pulled down by a dog which had also fed on her, was found in the artichoke fields near the Carmel River.

Several other carcasses of does have been found recently that appear to have suffered the same fate.

According to article 1287 of the Fish and Game Code, it is a misdemeanor to allow a dog to run deer out of season. Assistant District Attorney Gordon Campbell told The Pine Cone yesterday. Also there is a county law that prohibits owners from allowing dogs to run without a leash.

Local sportsmen say that at this season does are easy prey because they are about to drop their fawns. After the fawns are born, they, too, will be greatly endangered if the dog is not controlled.

HOLE IN ONE

E. B. Mizener, of Dolores Street is now a member of the Dodo Club as a result of making a hole in one on the Pacific Grove Golf Course Wednesday afternoon, shooting 140 yards into the fifth hole. His score for the nine-hole course was 46. He was playing with William H. Parkes and A. Peterkin, both of Carmel, who had scores of 52 and 56. Mr. Mizener will be awarded a certificate attesting to his skill.

PHILIP IN DOG HOUSE

Dr. Ernst V. Sahlsten's French poodle, Philip, was disturbed at his dinner last Monday evening when a stranger by the name of Joseph Fields Feldman came to the back door to ask directions. Mr. Feldman later appeared at the hospital, asking treatment for bites on his leg, and the Board of Health requested Dr. Sahlsten to keep a close watch on Philip for the next 21 days. But Philip claims to have gotten the worst of the argument, whatever it was, for he had to limp three days as a result of a broadside from Mr. Feldman's suitcase. At least this is the gist of the story which Philip has had to tell without words.

Bennett Looking For Glass House

Ward Bennett, the young New York abstract sculptor who once spent two years here sharing a house with Dan Tothoroh, has come homing to Carmel and is looking for a studio where he can park his cocobola, teak and walnut pieces. For the last three years he has been art director for Hattie Carnegie but is now a fugitive from business. His work has been exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art in New York and is at present being shown in the Baldwin-Kingrey Galleries in Chicago. It is booked to appear next month in the Walker Art Center at Minneapolis, inching westward to join Mr. Bennett. In the January issue of Arts and Architecture a double page spread will show pictures of his birds in abstract. All he wants now is a glass house or a stone house or just any kind of house at all so that he can execute new masterpieces.

Busy Political Year Ahead For City Of Carmel

Three local elections are scheduled for Carmel this year, a city election on April 13 when the citizens will vote for three councilmen, a city clerk and a city treasurer; a school district election in May to elect one trustee; and a sanitary district election, September 20, to fill three vacancies on the board.

Terms expiring on the city council are those of Allen Knight, Keith Evans, and Charles Childers. City Clerk Peter Mawdsley announces that nomination forms will be available in his office on February 13. Petitions of candidacy must be filed before March 4.

School board member whose term expires this spring is Mrs. Martha Moller. Sanitary Board vacancies will be those of Hugh Comstock, Clayton Neill and Keith Evans.

None of the officials whose terms expire have announced whether they will be candidates for re-election except Keith Evans who will not be eligible to serve on the council since he plans to move out of the city limits. His change of residence will not disqualify him from serving on the Sanitary Board if he chooses to run.

4 New Buildings In Business Zone; Black Top Okayed

Plans for four new commercial buildings were approved by the Carmel Planning Commission at its meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Laurids Jorgenson will build a store on the south side of Sixth between Dolores and Lincoln; S. A. Dibble, a nine unit apartment building on the corner of Fourth and Mission; Carl Schnuch a doctor's office with apartment above on the east side of Dolores between Seventh and Sixth; B. F. Sowell on the site of Joe's Taxi office, Dolores and Sixth, three shops.

The planning commission formulated a recommendation to the city council that an ordinance be passed making it mandatory for commercial buildings to have at least two feet setback except in cases where the regulation would work undue hardship.

The commission decided that the approved material for surfacing sidewalks, in those cases where sidewalk surfacing was deemed necessary and the property owner desired it, should be plant mix, oil mix, brick or redwood slabs.

It expressed disapproval of cement as a surface; added also that any projected path making on the part of property owners should have first the approval of the planning commission and then be carried on under supervision of the street department. It was pointed out that all sidewalks or paths would have to be put in at the expense of the property owners; also that shrubs and brush may not be cut away in making paths without permission of the city council since they come under the tree classification and are city owned. Chairman P. A. McCreery pointed out that surfacing of paths in many cases is unnecessary, especially on the north-south street, where a little brush cutting is all that is required to make excellent walkways. (Continued on Page Sixteen)

New Yorker Wires For Free Trees

Street Superintendent William Askew got 20 requests for free trees this week as a result of Mayor Fred Godwin's announcement in The Pine Cone last Friday: Planning Commission Chairman P. A. McCreery received 15 requests, City Clerk Peter Mawdsley, two, and The Pine Cone, which was not designated as an official request receiving depot, received one, which we consider the prize of the lot, a telegram from Roslyn, New York:

WANT ONE OF GODWIN'S PINE TREES WITH SQUIRRELS BLUEJAYS ROBINS AND PIGMY NUT HATCHES BUT MUST BE PIGMY WILL NOT ACCEPT SUBSTITUTE AWAIT SAME EAGERLY—KATY MARTIN RUSTER.

Askew says he'll be pleased to fill Mrs. Ruster's order, but he'll have to take care of local demands first, which should keep him and the street department busy until about world series time.

There is still time to take advantage of Mayor Godwin's offer: free trees for anybody who asks for them, to be installed and maintained by the Carmel Street Department. Phone Bill Askew at 1000-J; P. A. McCreery, 142-W, or Peter Mawdsley, 110. Squirrels, bluejays, robins and pigmy nut hatches included without extra cost.

Donkey Basketball At Hi School Gym; Firemen Vs. Legion

Laughs, spills, and fearless donkey riding will be presented for the edification of Peninsula basketball fans next Thursday night, when the highly entertaining sport of donkey basketball takes the spotlight in the Carmel High School gym.

Gene Ricketts has banded together a hard-riding bunch of volunteer firemen, who, it is rumored, can nearly match the donkeys in basket shooting ability, to try their luck against Duke Dufur's Legion cavalry. Dufur maintains his team may not be able to think as fast as the donkeys, but they hope to match the strategy of the fire fighters.

Charley Childers, star Legion forward, plans to upset the well-laid plans of the Firemen by carrying the donkey, which will confuse the enemy so they will be in doubt as to which one is the shooter. Fans will be able to tell the donkeys by their long ears and intelligent look. Rip Belvail, Fireman pivot man, has rigged a special buzzer for his donkey, which, he claims, will give him a 10 yard head start on all fast break plays.

The donkeys are especially trained for basketball and exhibit amazing technique on the hardwood. Special rubber shoes prevent any marring of the gym floor and give the donks sound footing.

Proceeds from this game will be presented to the Carmel Boys' Club for the purchase of basketball warmup jackets. A preliminary game, at 7:15, between the Carmel Boys' Club and the Harley's Drive In will precede the donkey tilt. Wise fans will arrive at the Carmel gym early, as this entertaining event has been packing them in all over the State.

BOULDER CREEK AT CARMEL GYMNASIUM TONIGHT

A neophyte member of the B division of the CCAL will make its debut in the Carmel High gym tonight when the Boulder Creek lightweight and varsity quintets meet up with the Carmel Padres. Boulder Creek was a member of the CCAL prior to the war, but dropped out of competition during the war years. They were always a potent threat in basketball and often upset the favored larger schools. This year the Creek boys have come along slowly and are just rounding into form. They gave Salinas High School a stiff battle before succumbing to superior man power. The Carmel lightweights will be fighting a do-or-else battle in their engagement with the BC lightweights, as a loss to the visitors will eliminate the Carmel Babes from a chance for the championship.

Saturday night finds the Padres traveling to Sunnyvale for a brace of tilts with the Fremont casaba squads. Fremont is the class of the Santa Clara Valley League this year and will be favored to take the locals to the cleaners. The Indians are undefeated in league play and have whipped such good teams as Palo Alto, Lincoln, Sequoia, and Campbell.

VILLAGE LEAGUE B. B. SEES FAST ENCOUNTERS

The championship aspirations of the Ricketts and Freeman cage squad took a decided nose dive last Monday night when the Carmel Boys' Club rudely dumped them, 37 to 27. Playing without the services of their court master, Ky Miyamoto, the sporting goods boys were easy prey for the agile clubbers. Rich Mulholland, Max Hodges and Perry Brown ran the R&F quintet off the court during the second half and had them gasping for breath at the end of the game. The oldsters held their own during the first half which ended 13 to 13. When the greybeards lost their zip in the fourth quarter, the kids pumped 12 points through the basket.

Del Monte Kennels continued to show sensational improvement by swamping the D&J Tailors, 39 to 15. Bill Emerson, Kennel forward, was unstoppable and racked up 17 points for the vets. With this victory, the Kennel club moves into a tie for second place. Frost Roofers continue to lead the league, with 5 wins and no losses.

CARMEL DIVIDES VICTORIES WITH KING CITY AND GILROY
 Last Friday night the Carmel High School basketball teams journeyed to King City and came home with one victory and one loss for their evening's work. The Padre Babes encountered too much Gilbert Hale on the KC lightweight squad and took the count, 38 to 27. Hale personally accounted for 16 of the Pony points and turned in a fine all-around performance. Going into the last quarter the score was even up but the Hale express started to roll and pushed through 9 tallies in the 7 minute period. Walter Frey and Pat Dormody led the Padre scorers, each collecting 9 points.

The varsity tilt was a thriller from opening whistle to the last horn. King City went out in front during the first quarter; the score was tied at the half; Carmel was in front at the end of the third quarter; King City went ahead briefly in the early stages of the fourth period, and Carmel surged to the front in the latter part of the final quarter. Phil Wettengel, with 10 points, led the Carmel scorers, but he was closely followed by Frank Timmins with 8 markers. The hustling defensive play of Winslow, Handley and McCreery served to hold the Mustang shooters in check, although Ed Banuelos managed to get free for 13 tallies. Final score: Carmel 37, King City 31.

Saturday night the Padres entertained the Gilroy cage squads in a pair of non-league games. Again the lightweights ran into a red hot cager and were overcome in an overtime period, 37 to 32. Al Perino, Gilroy forward, had a cag-

100 YEARS of PROGRESS in WATER POWER

SUTTER'S SAWMILL is the symbol of an epochal event in the history of California and the Nation—James W. Marshall's discovery of gold at Coloma on January 24, 1848. California's early growth and prosperity stemmed from this event. And here was one of the earliest developments of the water power which, applied to electric generators, turns the wheels of industry today.

At Sutter's sawmill a small, wooden flutterwheel was fed by a plank flume 10 feet wide by 50 feet long to drive an upright saw through sugar pine logs. Fascinated Indians watched the saw go up and down and said, "Buena, buena".

Today in the high Sierra above Coloma, along the Mokelumne, Feather and Yuba rivers, Pacific Gas and Electric Company is rushing construction of five great hydro-electric plants at a cost of 85 million dollars. Here batteries of giant steel water wheels will spin generators to produce 464,000 horsepower of electricity.

Here again are foresight and water power teamed up to make life and work better in California by producing an abundance of electricity at low cost and delivering it to the people by a service that we hope will always merit a sincere "buena".

Hi Chatter

By PEGGY RIKER

Carmel High School is once again the proud possessor of a new student government as a result of the elections held last Monday. The tallying votes witnessed one of the closest elections in the history of the school, with every student exercising the privilege to vote.

It became necessary to hold a re-election Wednesday in those cases where three names appeared for the same office, as a decisive majority is needed, according to the constitution.

Those appearing on the first ballots Monday were: for president, Sue Moore and Bob Barry; for vice president, Rod Dewar and Phil Wettengel; for secretary, Jennefer Lloyd and Sherlie Sousa; commissioner of social affairs, "Biz" Carr and Benita Updike; commissioner of community activities, Jan Mastin, Joan McGrath, and Kathie von Meier; commissioner of girls' athletics, Edith Barbie, Eleanor Bannerman, Ursula Bartlett, and Pat Timbers; commissioner of boys' athletics, Dick Taplin, Bob Rissel, and Lee Winslow.

As the final votes were counted Monday by the election committee, it became clear that Bob Barry, Phil Wettengel, Jennefer Lloyd, and Biz Carr were slated for offices. On the run-off Wednesday, Ursula Bartlett and Pat Timbers; Jan Mastin and Joan McGrath; and Lee Winslow and Dick Taplin voted for their respective positions.

When the student body gathered Friday afternoon for the installation ceremony, Paul Warner handed the presidential gavel to Bob Barry; Lee Winslow stepped back as Phil Wettengel took over the vice-presidency, and Peggy Riker passed a well-worn minute book to the new secretary, Jennefer Lloyd. Jennefer is giving up her old job as commissioner of social affairs as "Biz" Carr takes her place, while Murrey Wight retires, leaving his position as commissioner of community activities to Jan Mastin. Sports activities will be ably managed during the next semester by Lee Winslow and Ursula Bartlett as Mike Monahan and Bix Carr step down from office.

If the newly elected officers receive the same co-operation and interest as the old, Carmel High School should have a smoothly running and efficient student government. During the semester, under the guidance of the officers, the legislature formulated and adopted a new, and we hope, airtight constitution, as well as performing other duties and deciding student problems. Both the legislature and the elected student body officers have done a wonderful job, and from the caliber of the newly elected group, Carmel should have the best of guidance and leadership in 1948.

At the end of the program the Juniors had their chance to match the hilarious talent show given by the Seniors in November. "The Junior Hour," presented under the management of Elton Clark and Benita Updike, kept its audience howling. A skit called Romeo and Juliet was enacted with Laurel del Hildebrand portraying Juliet and Dick Taplin Romeo, much to the amusement of everyone. An oled in which the remainder of the class participated followed. The Junior class, under the sponsorship of Miss Viola May Knoche and John Westover, is to be congratulated on its fine performance.

In the final tussle for the speed ball championships the Juniors overcame the Seniors, 6 to 5, and so won a place for themselves on our new trophy case.

The Juniors climbed back into the speedball race when they squeezed out an 11 to 9 victory over the fighting Sophomores. With the end of the speedball season, the girls are beginning to brush up on volleyball technique in preparation for another round of stiff inter-class competition.

Barbara Corrigan Tells Woman's Club Of Writers' Struggles

Miss Barbara Corrigan, speaking before the Carmel Woman's Book Section last Monday afternoon on Ups and Downs of a Writer, gave a witty account of some of her own struggles.

With a novel, Voyage of Discovery, on best-seller lists and a number of stories published in the Saturday Evening Post, Collier's, and other leading magazines, Miss Corrigan has reached what would seem to many aspirants the top rung on a writer's ladder. But hers was the familiar story of long hours at the typewriter, of writing and re-writing, of manuscripts returned "usually three weeks to the date from the day they were mailed", with the ambiguous editorial comment, "It doesn't seem to come off," and of the urge to write which makes it impossible for her to stay away from the typewriter more than a very short time. Courage in crossing miles of ankle-deep velvet carpets to beard editorial lions in their secluded dens, optimism in the face of manuscripts returned over and over again, and perseverance despite ruthless critics ("Maybe he is right but he didn't have to say it quite so nastily"), these are apparently as important qualifications as having something to say and knowing how to say it.

Concluding her talk Miss Corrigan stated that she feels the reading public has a duty to insist on better fiction in magazines. The attitude of many editors is highly unflattering in their insistence on cheerfulness and pleasant reading, which Miss Corrigan considers totally unrealistic. But a change can only be accomplished by demand from readers for better stories.

Hostess for tea following the meeting was Mrs. H. P. T. The, and pouring were Mrs. Charles Richardson, Jr., and Mrs. J. E. Aher-nethy.

John Chambers

John Charles Chambers, 66, died at a local hospital Monday, January 19, after a short illness. He was a native of Freedom, Indiana, and a member of Kingman Lodge No. 7, I. O. O. F., of Kingman, Arizona. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Christine Chambers of Carmel Valley, by two daughters, Miss Lucille Chambers of Carmel Valley and Mrs. Helen Davis of San Francisco, and by a granddaughter, Miss Shirley Whiting of San Francisco.

Services were held Wednesday morning at the Paul Funeral Chapel in Pacific Grove, under the auspices of the Monterey Lodge, I. O. O. F. Burial took place at El Carmelo Cemetery.

AUDUBON FIELD TRIP

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society, under the leadership of Laidlaw Williams, took an all-day bird walk at Moss Landing and other points along the Elkhorn Slough. Over a hundred species were identified, the high point of the day being the sighting of 30 whistling swans and nearly 100 white pelicans, both of which are uncommon in this area.

Who Are We, Anyway?

Subject came up at Bill Webster's, the other day, as we were chatting over beer and pretzels.
Just who are the folks who make up our town? Where'd they come from?

Well, Doc Hollister's Scotch-
English ancestry; Will Dudley's folks were mining stock from Pennsylvania; Skip Powell's family were brewers back in Holland.

Guess our bloodstream's got a bit of every country of the globe—and every section of America. We've still got differences in taste and background—whether they apply to music, history, or beer. Only those differences don't matter—because we're self-respecting people, in a free, united land.

And from where I sit, that's what makes our towns and cities
—our America—so strong, progressive, tolerant. Our championship of individual liberties has brought us people from all faiths, all lands—to prove that respect for one another's rights is the greatest bond humanity can know!

Have You Read . . . ?

BY D. S. EDGAR

(The Chequer Board, by Nevil Shute, William Morrow and Co.)

A robust yet delicately written plea for tolerance, "The Chequer Board" stands beside "Kingsblood Royal" and "Gentleman's Agreement" in its argument for the brotherhood of man.

John Turner, a middle-class Londoner, is faced with the knowledge that he has less than a year to live. He chooses to spend the short time remaining to him in a search for three men whom he had known in a hospital during the war. Of his three former companions, Turner says, "They were a bloody miserable lot—the miserablest lot of men I ever saw."

Dave Lesurier, the Negro soldier from America, had tried to commit suicide after being wrongly accused of attempting to rape an English girl. Dave had been merely trying to ask her to go for a walk with him, had become confused and had impulsively kissed her.

Phil Morgan was a callow and ignorant young R. A. F. pilot. He was twenty-two years old; he had no conversation whatsoever beyond airplanes, except a queer hotchpotch of schoolboy prejudices. He considered it an insult that he had been put into the same hospital ward as the Negro. "The mugger oughtn't to be in this ward at all," he complained to Turner. "He offered me a paper the other day he'd been reading and breathing all over. I soon put him in his place."

Duggie Brent, the paratroop corporal, had been twenty when he joined the Army, and they had set to work to make a man of him. They gave him a rifle and taught him how to use it. Then they put a bayonet on the rifle and set him running at a line of sandbag dummies. Next, they gave him a Bren gun; he discovered that you could kill a lot of people with that in a very short time. In 1942 Duggie went through a course of unarmed combat. He was taught to attack an armed man fifty pounds heavier than himself and kill him alone in perfect silence. In 1943 he did so, in the dark outside a public house in London.

John Turner's post-war search for these men takes him as far as Burma, and leads him incidentally to an understanding of the intricacies of the human heart. In Burma he finds Phil Morgan happily married to a beautiful Burmese girl, Nay Htohn. Phil has changed greatly since the days when he was insulted by having a Negro in the same ward with him.

Turner finds that Duggie Brent is a free man, having served a short prison term for his homicide. He had been brilliantly defended by an attorney who had formerly been his instructor in unarmed combat, and who had convinced the court that the blame for the homicide lay more heavily on the British Army than on Corporal Brent.

Dave Lesurier, the Negro, has settled in England, and Turner finds him happily married to the girl he had once been accused of attacking.

Having come to the end of his quest, Turner does some summing up: "I had been thinking about these darker-skinned people that I got to know about—Nay Htohn and Dave Lesurier. You know, there can't seem to be nothing different at all between all of us, only the color of our skin. They got some things we haven't got, too—better manners, sometimes. I reckon we could learn a thing or two from them."

HIGH SKY IN THE MORNING

*Green the margin of the lake
And green the forest to his eye,
Who climbed ten thousand granite feet
To sleep beneath the sky.*

*The smell of bitter campfire smoke
Means morning coffee soon
And breakfast in Sierra hush
Like silence of the moon.*

*Then will he wander up a stream
To wet a weathered fly;
Or climbing timberlost above
Will walk into the sky.*

—J. S. MOODEY.

LAST LEAF

*Now has a last leaf blown against the sill,
And sorrowing, I feel old crush of snows
Piled on the withered flowers that stand so still,
And laid upon my heart at Autumn's close.
I knew no dread when petals blew away,
Nor when the tree no longer hung with pear;
By tear nor pleading never tried to stay
The zinnia nor aster's purple snare.*

*Now is my brightness gone: the little leaf
That linked me with the dream of other days
Has stolen off as cautious as a thief,
Leaving the thin dark bough that winter flays.
Let me not grieve, as I have grieved before,
When with last leaves all color goes . . . and more.*

—CORDRAY MAXWELL

MYSTIC

*It is his glory and his doom,
Savoring loveliness and bloom,
To see them shadow into gloom*

*And all around, as sheer as glass,
Feel the shimmering touch and pass
Of universes without mass,*

*The subtle combing of long cause,
A whirlpool of transparent laws
And poles that crash airier than gauze.*

*Enormous businesses of sky
Gather and glance and pass him by,
Centering destinies in his eye.*

*Hungering for the fluid and true,
He must feast on the chaff they strew—
Dust of stars in a bin of blue,*

*Rinds of hill on a melon west,
The tattered greenery of earth's best—
And know he is cursed, know he is blessed.*

—LORI PETRI.

AS NIGHT FELL

*From the sky night fell on swift dark wings
That hid the lowest valleys; on the high
Incredible peaks a sudden, lovely thing
Was seen—the illumined sunset sky.
Velvet and black the shadow mounted up
Enveloping the mountains; still the bold
Crests jutted out, and like a crystal cup
Spilling the light, the heavens poured their gold.*

*Then all the brilliance gone, the tenuous dark
Absorbed the day, while tremulous and faint,
The slim young moon arose, a lovely arc
Walking the deep sky like a silver saint;
Paved with the stars laid down for her light feet,
She trod upon a shining silver street.*

—MARY WILLIS SHELBURNE.

Carmel Story . . .

THE HOUSE OF MARTIN—CHAPTER III

BY DAISY BOSTICK

For John Martin's wife, Elizabeth, this must have been a strange and primitive country with but one white woman in her vicinity and with living conditions so different from those to which she had been accustomed; but she too with her heritage of Scotch fortitude was equal to emergencies and proved herself adaptable to the pioneer life during the early years of the American occupation.

Elizabeth Stewart Martin was gentle, patient, conscientious, and when her name is mentioned to anyone who knew her, the remark is always made, "Oh, she was a fine—very fine—woman!" In time she bore to her husband seven children. They were James, William, Thomas, Robert, Carmel, Roy, and Isabel. Thomas died in infancy but the others, along with their three half-brothers, made a fine group of young Americans, owing not only to the gentle influence of the mother but to the fact that John Martin was a stern disciplinarian.

Still living in Carmel Valley are William and Roy Martin and Andrew Stewart, who on his arrival at the ranch, thought he had come to the end of the world. They have all been successful ranchers. Carmel Martin chose a professional life and settled in Monterey. Isabel—the youngest—and only girl in the family is Mrs. Robert Leidig of Carmel. The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of William and Agnes Martin who lunched under the Monterey oak in 1856 complete the picture, most of them living on the Monterey Peninsula.

Life in the Martin family when the brood of children was growing up must have been gay and interesting. Isabel, the baby sister, had an excellent chance to be spoiled by so many big, strapping brothers. She likes to recall the social life of her early years. The young people fished and hunted and as a special treat to a guest they organized coon-hunts on the present Carmel beach. At low tide large sandcrabs would appear on the beach, and they were very tempting morsels to the coons who at the approach of the hunters and their dogs would plunge into the surf coming back to the land some distance away.

There were dancing and theatricals in their home and at the neighbors' and up the valley at the Carmel Valley Athletic and Social Club (now the Farm Center) where the housewives would bring their homemade cakes and potato salad, and the music for dancing would be a fiddle or best of all an accordion. Sometimes the boys played poker using gun wads for chips. And for ammunition money they speared salmon in the river and sent it to the San Francisco market. One year they sold thirteen hundred pounds of salmon. And while the young people played and frolicked, John Martin, the father, read scientific books and philosophized about now and the hereafter.

With a twinkle in her eye Isabel Leidig talks of their early interest in baseball. The teams were the Sandfleas from the coast, the Woodticks from up near the farm center, and the Rattlesnakes still further up from around Jamesburg. Then as now the teams played for supremacy, each with its enthusiastic supporters and with bitter rivalry. It seems that most of the games were played on the property belonging to John Martin and it was usually on a Sunday. Reverend Sidney Williams was a pastor in Pacific Grove and one Sunday he was returning from a fishing trip down the coast and came upon a shouting group of baseball players. He called the leaders to him and insisted that they cease their play long enough for him to conduct a Sunday service for them. Nothing loath, they gathered up on the hillside and listened quietly to the reverend's short sermon and prayer. At its conclusion they went happily back to their game.

The Time Has Come...

By KIPPY STUART

In Seven Gothic Tales, by Isak Dinensen, this riddle is posed: "What is it that is bought dearly, offered for nothing and most always refused?" The answer is—other persons' experiences. If you are going to be like that you might as well stop reading right now for nothing appears in this column except my own experiences and a lot of that is bad.

To begin with, I have been contradicting myself all over the map. In the January 16 Pine Cone I stated that because of our unusual cold snap this would be a "no bug" year, and who should dare predict any such miracle? I've been pretty smug too, pointing the finger of suspicion at other gardeners, asking, "Have you sprayed your garden?" I got my come-uppance yesterday and now you have the laugh on me.

On January 10 I removed the netting over the ranunculus and anemone. They were about seven inches tall and birds were no longer a menace. I had done a good job of spraying at that time, so I rested on my laurels. Last week I took time out of life (that is forever getting in the way of gardening), and strolled through my garden. I never had such a shock! The ranunculus leaves, that should be dark green and stand upright, were striped with white veins and lolled about as though they were rubber leaves; the anemones were sick looking and their leaves were also striped with white veins. Thrips! My stocks, that had been so tall and stately a few days ago, were shriveled at the top, and right through my garden, thrips, aphids with a dash of red spider for good measure, were having a bug picnic. I got out my trusty tube spray, put nicotine in one chamber, sulphur in the other. I cannot save those portions of the plants that were infected, so I cut them off. New growth is coming strong and I've saved my spring crop. The reason these bugs came in such a hurry, is the lack of rain. A few good hurricanes would do the trick. Garden pests are not as apt to attack healthy plants, and drought is the surest way to make growing things sick. I've given up waiting for our "rainy season;" hose schedule has returned to my garden. (By the time you read this, we will probably be deluged.)

A plant that should be in all gardens is the blue cornflower; also called ragged robin and bachelor button. When this plant is very young it begins to droop. The stalk, where it emerges from the ground, will have a black smudge. This is fungus. Spray with any good fungus control. Later, when the cornflower gets about a foot high, it will droop again. Red Spider and thrip have arrived. If you watch this plant carefully, and run with spray, you can raise super cornflowers. Don't plant too many seeds at one time. All you need is three or four plants. They grow to enormous size and shower the garden with beauty. In fact, they over-do this showering business. I have only three cornflower plants now in bloom. I used to stake them up, but now I let them rest on elbows they make themselves, and they shower over an area of ten-by-ten-feet.

It is a good idea to work little bone meal and any good commercial fertilizer around all your spring bulbs. This is not absolutely necessary, but neither is taking a bath always necessary. It just helps, that's all.

MENTAL HYGIENE MEETING
Gathered for a buffet dinner at 6:30 Sunday, January 25, at the Mission Ranch Barn, will be the members and their families of the Monterey Mental Hygiene Society which is an affiliate of the Northern California Mental Hygiene Society. Following the dinner, there will be a lecture by Milto Rose, psychiatrist from Palo Alto and member of the Northern California Board, after which the President, Mr. E. Covell, will introduce the new officers for 1948. Miss Eleanor Chamberlain suggests that the members remember to make their reservations with her as early as possible.

Ruth Cooke's First Song Recital Given At Noel Sullivan's

Mrs. Ruth Hill Cooke made her debut as a concertist last Sunday evening at Hollow Hills Farm, accompanied by Noel Sullivan who has been coaching her with the assistance of May Williams.

In the chapel-like music room where a select group of music lovers had been invited, Mrs. Cooke's contralto voice gave rich entertainment and justified her months of study. She gave fourteen songs with eloquence and depth of understanding. Those who have noticed her work with the Bach Festival choral group were not surprised at this revelation of her natural gift, and well-trained critics present spoke especially of the sincerity of her interpretations.

COLOR PHOTOGRAPHY TALK

Arthur Holman will give a talk and demonstration on Color Photography, at 7:30 Thursday evening, January 29, in the music room of Sunset School, under the auspices of Mrs. Leota Tucker's class in photographic technique. Mr. Holman has made a special study of the technical and chemical processing for many years and is willing to give others the benefit of his experience. He will be assisted in the demonstration by Dr. Ralph Weston and George Seidenbeck.

Mrs. Tucker's studio class is held every Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in her home at Fifth and Mission, and students of photography are welcome to bring their children or friends for the making of pictures with the studio camera.

We've put in 2 1/4 MILLION TELEPHONES since V-J Day

1. We had to break records...and we did. Today we're serving over one-fourth more telephones than at the war's end—a net gain of three-quarters of a million. And, since every day many customers move, we actually had to install more than two and a quarter million telephones to make this gain.

2. Complex splices like this—thousands of them—went into the two million miles of wire we've put in. And that's only part of the story—more than 200 new buildings or additions...complex new switching equipment in almost all our buildings...these and other facilities are being added in the face of sharply rising costs and tough supply problems.

3. We're still working against time. Orders continue to flood in. To fill service needs we're adding facilities at the rate of more than half a million dollars a day—every day. A huge investment, yes. But telephones have been going in as never before in the West. And as the system grows, your telephone service becomes more valuable still.

4. Where does the money come from...millions of new working dollars needed to extend and improve service? Millions must come, not from telephone bills, but from thousands of people who put their savings to work in the telephone business. To attract these working dollars, we must pay a reasonable amount for their use. This requires the sale of our services at fair and adequate prices.

SAN CARLOS BETWEEN 5TH & 6TH STREETS—CARMEL

With Zoe

In a fascinating high ceilinged, narrow staired, dark wooded garret, NIKKI and JAY tailor and alter clothes. Artistic, as well as precisely efficient, these two, who drive up from Garapatas canyon daily, design and make clothes, that is, when they have the time. Their workshop is in the Savo Garret Shop, upstairs from Ocean, next to the Christian Science Reading Room, and right around the corner on Monte Verde. It is fun to run up the stairs, ring the cow bell, and stop in for a chat, for the rooms are intriguing and NIKKI and JAY are enthusiastic people.

That yellow-wooded, blue-edged BLUEBIRD on Ocean Avenue is serving a delicious, complete roast beef dinner for the fine price of $1.50. It is remarkable to see general prices soaring cloud high, and a dinner price going down. The beef is from a particular choice cut, and the whole dinner and service, coupled with the atmosphere of fire and quiet is what you require for pleasant dining out. The BLUEBIRD is also carrying on with the by now well known Pot Luck Luncheon which is an entire meal from soup through dessert for the easy charge of fifty cents.

A great gorgeous gadget can be seen and had at the ROBERT WALDO HICKS shop in the form of a whole kitchen represented by one white compact Parsons Pureaire. You open the doors, and presto, there are shelves, an oven, four burners, a sink, drawers, a refrigerator, storage space, a bread board, a light and utility plug—the list is endless of the things formed together to make one complete kitchen. The space saved is fabulous, and the time miraculous, for you can cook a meal, wash dishes, mix drinks, toss a few snacks together, all without moving a step. The Pureaire takes up less than eight square feet of floor space and is the answer for a small apartment or cottage, and perfect for a recreation room.

Under a chartreuse canvas awning crossed with pink, in a room made charming by a brick fireplace set with plants and a copper samovar, with round easy tables and a long handmade wooden table and chairs, with undersea shades of water color on the wall, and miraculous hanging star shaped lights, you can lunch and tea at ease at JOAN REXFORD'S Shop on San Carlos. Unusual items like toasted avocado sandwiches with fruit salad are menued for lunches, and the shop features delicate pastries and cakes, biscuits and pies, all home made and to be carried away with you if ordered. If you are a definite afternoon tea drinker, wander into JOAN REXFORD'S and have it served to you with a wonderful fluff of coconut cake.

WHEATON'S JEWELERS in Monterey are displaying the January stone, the Aquarius stone: the garnet. The garnet is symbolic of friendship; it guards its wearer from harm; its color was supposed to have a therapeutic effect, to make one invulnerable to wounds; Asiatic tribes even used garnets as bullets, whereas in Burma, in reverse process, blood offerings were made before this fabulous stone. WHEATON'S JEWELERS show large garnets set in white or yellow gold, solid settings for men, and delicate mountings for women, one particularly lovely one of a garnet twisted between two pearls, and another of three garnets beside glittering engraving resembling stones. If January is your birth month, or you are definitely fond of this mysterious stone, let WHEATON'S JEWELERS provide you with a handsome garnet ring.

The by-products of green fields and sweet pastures are to be found in their most lush and plentiful form at the DOLORES GROCERY, which has a small creamery section all its own featuring epic essentials like thick sour cream, sold in half pint cartons, sweet unsalted butter, and jars of the delicacy known as Yogurt. Yogurt is a milk product, eaten 3,000 years ago by our ancestors and recommended today by doctors, and by people who like good things to eat, for it is easy to digest, gives calcium and protein, and is a big factor in making superb salad dressings. Connoisseurs like it plain, or it can be sweetened with sugar or honey; fresh strawberries heaped high with yogurt, or beef stroganoff made with mushrooms and yogurt is something to contemplate. Scurrying along Dolores Street, be sure to stop at the DOLORES GROCERY for your thick cream, saltless butter, and yogurt jars.

A flower is the gift of the lover; the legendary nightingale sang his little heart out to produce a perfect rose. The FLOR DE MONTEREY suggests spring flowers for your Valentine offerings. A heart shaped arrangement of jonquils would be a pleasant gift, or a sweet corsage formed of fresh spring flowers. China lilies, daffodils, iris, are in bloom now and should be the first thing on your mind when you consider Valentine's Day. The heart shaped containers can be had, with or without the floral arrangement.

The LEATHER SHOP on Alvarado carries a complete lines of leathercraft supplies and tools, including cut out projects, zippers, belt blanks and belt buckles in all sizes and types, steel, nickel or sterling, and carries all kinds of leathers: cowhides, tooling, calfskin, sheep skin, goat skin, pig skin, horse hide, suedes in wonderful colors (an especially deep rich brown, excellent for skirt or packet) for lining or garment making, even ostrich skin. If you are leather minded, you will soon find yourself investigating all these things at the LEATHER SHOP in Monterey.

Spring is everywhere and at MAXINE'S pure spring linens and crisp shantungs are arriving. The linens have that new look plus a spring look about them in the long tunics, and in the white or black background, with accents of white and gray or red and gray in a modern design with a thread of black zipping along like a sound photograph. The shantungs are striped gray or red or brown, with an inter play effect giving a long waisted chatelaine torso. So you see that MAXINE'S is seasonally ready and you will want to be too.

At the CORNER CUPBOARD, little red tags mark an intricate display of curious and beautiful things to suit your impulsive mood, or your long planned shopping, and all reduced to suit your every mood. Shelves beneath the Dolores display window carry shimmering amber glass hi-ball glasses, pottery bean jars. Outstanding is the blue clear glassware formed into two vases, which can either recline to let flowers trail out, or stand upright as vases. Your eager shopping eyes will not want to miss this diverse collection of functional and beautiful objects at the CORNER CUPBOARD.

Entering the HERITAGE ANTIQUE shop on Monte Verde I was immediately aware of a glow and glitter emanating from the brass and copper ware about the room: samovars, candelabra, lamps, pitchers, coffee pots, high trivets for kettles and kettles themselves all gleamed and shone. Questioning Mrs. Clarabut I found this was due to the King Midas polish which she uses constantly and which has drawn so many exclamations of wonder she is now selling the polish. The polish is good for all metals, is absurdly easy to use and lasts for ever. You must try it and you will find that King Midas lives up to its name and truly gives the Golden Touch.

The VILLAGE JEWELERS announce a new line of dainty jewelry ware for babies and kiddies; there are tiny gold circlets of rings, delicate chains supporting lockets, crosses, hearts, and single strands of small pearls. This shop is also happy to make you an allowance on any watch you care to trade in for a new one, and remember the excellent watch repair work done at the VILLAGE JEWELERS.

SU VECINO (your neighbor,) that excellent Mexican delicatessen where all good things like corn tortillas, chiles rellenos, frijoles refritos con queso, Spanish rice, three varieties of enchiladas, tamales, Mexican cheeses, are to be had, says that they are especially glad to take orders (with 10 or 12 hours notice) for banquets or large club luncheons. Clubs, groups, classes, party planners take note, for all you have to do is place your order, receive it neatly packaged, take a few minutes to warm it, and there is a delicious Mexican banquet ready for you. This would also be wonderful service for valley or beach picnics.

Two new books to delight fond followers of literary trends will be found at the VILLAGE BOOKSHOP on Ocean: "Other Voices Other Rooms," by Truman Capote, and "The Saint and the Devil" by Frances Winwar. Truman Capote is that bright genius of 23 whose stories have been appearing in Harper's Bazaar and other up-to-the-minute magazines; Miss Winwar, who has dealt cleverly and beautifully with George Sand, the pre-Raphaelite group, the romantics of the 19 century, turns in her new book to the always popular story of Joan of Arc and Gilles de Rais.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Prosser and their daughter Helen are now running the ARTIST'S PALETTE, where the theme is spring, and the suggestion is that with your spring cleaning you will want to bring all the gay outdoors, indoors, which can be done with the rainbow colors of the Treasure Tone household paints. The jonquil yellow and the acacia will give you the feeling of flowers about you, the green shades, give you the leafiness and branching of trees; or you might prefer canyon pink or cyclamen to give you wide horizontal desert effects. Coral is the precise color to compliment a rustic cottage. Give your home the spring gift of Treasure Tone paint from the ARTIST'S PALETTE.

The GARDEN OF ALLAH, right across the street from the Post Office in Monterey reminds you that Easter is near, and all those Easter overseas food packages should be sent out soon. At this connoisseur shop, there are specially selected items, like: tinned creamery butter, tins of roast beef, corned beef, hickory smoked sliced bacon, roast pork, there are tinned preserves, powdered milk and eggs, wheat germ flour, dried fruits, dates, whole roast chickens, all to please your European friends and bring them smiles, and poundage. Your part of the job is to choose, pick, select, then leave a name and address: the GARDEN OF ALLAH, like a swift magic carpet, does all the rest, for it packages, takes care of all shipping details, and whisks the food overseas.

The male animal is left with one bright bit of plumage: his necktie. In that little bit of wool or silk, we find his taste, his color sense, his exhibitionistic qualities, and his reticence. At the ARTIST'S WORKSHOP in the Golden Bough Court, there are on display ties, we would judge, for those of perfect taste, for they are handloomed by Navajo Indians centered around New Mexico; they are of pure virgin wool, and come in solid colors from pastels to dark

Mr. Dudley Yard announces that the bar at the HIGHLANDS INN now closed will be open the first of April; in the meantime the new road is a wide reality, the sunsets still perform, and a delicious dinner is served every night of the week at the HIGHLANDS INN.

You must have wondered sometimes how you can sit so warmly and cozily in the VILLAGE CORNER while the night freezes away outside, the doors whip to an fro and half the time are wide open. We've told you about the food and atmosphere of the CORNER and now we want to let you in on the radiant heat system, which has pipes full of hot water, under the floor, and keeps you warm without ruining and stifling the air. The system was installed when the building was first erected; it's the very latest in engineering efforts towards comfort and has been working satisfactorily at the VILLAGE CORNER for over a year. If anyone is interested in the mechanics of the system, Mr. Payne will be glad to show him around.

On January 10, on Highway No. 1, on the corner of Fremont and Lopez, East Monterey, the PARK DRIVE IN opened, and by its architecture, its fast service and its food, showed the Peninsula what a truly unique Drive In it is. The four girls who each gave the letter of her first name to name the Drive In, Pearl, Aileen, Ruth, and Kay, formerly on the staff of the YWCA in Oakland, run and operate the place themselves, and want to assure you that their featured "Dreamburger" of cheese and hamburger, is as dreamy as it sounds, and that selected prime beef is used in the hamburger and steak sandwiches. Why not plan a real visit to the PARK DRIVE IN, to see its unique structure, to eat its carefully prepared food, and to meet the four charming hostesses.
